

Gel technology is a type of VRLA battery where the liquid electrolyte is suspended in a fumed silica gelling agent causing it to partially solidify. The gelling agent offers superior resistance to leakage and enhanced durability with little maintenance and no watering. Exide invented the patented GEL battery technology under the dryfit[®] trademark*.

Gel Battery All solar power systems are composed of solar batteries. However, not all solar panel system manufacturers and installers provide one solar battery type. Most of the time they offer different models of batteries. Generally, there are four main types of solar batteries that are paired with residential solar panel systems. The commonly used batteries are Lead-acid batteries, ...

There is much debate regarding which is the best type of battery for your motorcycle, ATV or UTV (Side by Side). And with that debate comes some good- and some bad- information. Before we start, let's look at the basics: What is a Gel battery? A Gel battery is a lead-based battery, where the acid is in a Gel (silicate) format instead of a liquid.

A gel battery generally lasts longer than AGM; improved heat transfer to the outside is one reason. (The gel separator moves heat whereas the absorbent glass mat of the AGM acts as insulator.) A further advantage of gel is the dome shaped performance curve that allows the battery to stay in the high performance range during most of its service ...
