Where can the nature's generator be used?

The Nature's Generator is built to be used anywhere anytime. Power is supplied by our very own Power Panels and Wind Turbines, and can be connected to your home power. We ensure a clean charge without sacrificing any power, so you can stay connected wherever life takes you.

Can a nature's generator be charged via solar or wind power?

The Nature's Generator battery can be charged via solar and wind power, making any project eco-conscious. Shipping calculated at checkout. The Nature's Generator Elite offers more power from the same charge: Featuring more watts, amps, and output options. Power up with the Nature's Generator Elite Line.

How much power does a nature's generator use?

Of course, most of the weight you are lugging around in the Nature's Generator is the 1800-watt pure sine wave inverter. With this kind of power, you are free to use the three AC outlets without fear of overloading the system. The DC outlet is also a great feature that bypasses the inverter and allows for longer electronic runtimes.

How much does a nature's Generator cost?

At under $1,000 for the unit, the Nature's Generator won't break your budget for an emergency source of backup renewable electricity. That said, the Nature's Generator is so much cheaper than other solar generator options because it uses old, outdated AGM (absorbed glass mat) battery technology (more on this later).

How do you charge a nature's generator?

Most commonly, the generator is paired with solar panels or wind turbines from the same manufacturer. The Nature's Generator also has an AC power cord and you can charge it by plugging it into an outlet in your home. Here are the estimated charge times for a full battery:
