

What is the purpose of ground measurements in Malawi?

3 Ground measurements in Malawi 3.1 Solar meteorological stations: specifications and data Data from the measuring stations in Malawi was collected and harmonized with the objective of acquiring reference solar radiation data for reducing the uncertainty of the solar models.

Does Solargis model work in Malawi?

Solargis model is based on the use of the best available algorithms and input data, and it has been calibrated and validated for all geographies. Therefore, the model has robust and uniform behaviour in all conditions. Validation sites in Malawi show consistent bias within the expected range, except for the Mzuzu station.

What data will be incorporated into the Global Solar Atlas?

Any improved or validated solar resource data will be incorporated into the Global Solar Atlas. Does spatial interpolation extend the validity of solar meteorological correction factors?

Applying the spatial interpolation, we extended the validity of the correction factors identified at the solar meteorological stations to the entire territory of Malawi and neighbouring areas. To maintain the stability of model in a wider regional context, also effect of corrections from neighbouring regions (Zambia) was introduced.

What is the typical uncertainty of the Solargis model estimate?

The typical uncertainty of the Solargis model estimate has been reduced from the original range of ±12.0% (exceptionally for specific regions above 20%) for DNI yearly values to the range of ±5.0% to ±7.0% (exceptionally ±10.0%) for accuracy enhanced values.

Are Solargis data overestimated?

The original Solargis data show a regional pattern of overestimation, compared to the ground measurements, for both GHI and DNI. The highest difference is seen at Mzuzu station, where the systematic deviation between the ground measurements and the satellite data exceeds 12% and 20%, for yearly values GHI and DNI respectively.

first utility-scale grid-connected battery energy storage system in sub-Saharan Africa, having connected to the grid in December 2021.. The 60ha site sits within 110ha of land leased by JCM located to the south of the town of Golomoti, enabling future expansion of the solar ...

Angstrom constants obtained at the six meteorological stations were thereafter averaged in order to develop a linear regression model for estimating solar radiation in Malawi. Solar radiation values obtained using this model were ...

Golomoti Solar is a 20MW AC solar photovoltaic project with a 10MWh battery energy storage system (BESS) at Dedza, approximately 100km south east of Malawi's capital, Lilongwe. The plant will connect to the adjacent Golomoti substation which will evacuate power via an 132kV transmission line, facilitating delivery of much-needed power to Malawi's national grid.

P50 value Best estimate or median value represents 50% probability of exceedance. For annual and monthly solar irradiation summaries it is close to average, since multiyear distribution of solar radiation resembles normal distribution. P90 value Conservative estimate, assuming 90% probability of exceedance (with the 90%
